QUARTET SINGS WAY TO FAVOR IN BRUA CHAPEL

Appreciative Audience
Listens to Excellent
Program, Well Prepared.

Music lovers of Gettysburg were thrilled anew by the Seminary Quartet which made its first public appearance for the season in Gettysburg before an appreciative audience at Brua Chapel, Monday evening.

A well-balanced program, ably presented, left nothing to be desired in the minds of the quartet's hearers, and the frequent, spontaneous and oftentimes rapturous applause bore testimony of what the music lovers of Gettysburg really care for.

This is the second season for the Seminary Quartet, and considerable improvement over last year in smoothness and freedom from effort with which the young men presented the most difficult of quartet numbers was evidenced throughout the program, arranged as delightfully as it could possibly have been.

Well Received
The minute the singers came before the audience, they were greeted with hearty applause, and after the concluding number on the program had been given, they were called back, singing an old favorite of the quartet, "Invictus."

That southern songs were favorites with the audience at Brua Chapel was borne out in unmistakable manner by the rapturousness of the applause which followed the singing of two so-called colored songs.

No less appreciated than the numbers of the quartet were those selections by T. Benton Peery, first tenor; Carl Simon, second bass, and J. Herbert Springer, pianist. Both of the vocal soloists were in fine voice and completely captivated the audience, receiving encore-bringing applause.

Piano Solos
Mr. Springer gave two numbers by Albeniz, which held the audience fascinated, not only for the intrinsic beauty of the two Spanish numbers, but by the unsurpassed artistry of the performer, whose technique left nothing to be desired in that line.

As encores to "Tango" and "Seguidilla," the two program numbers by Albeniz, Mr. Springer played "Nocturn in F Sharp" and a waltz, by Brahms.

The program of the evening was dedicated by the quartet to Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewars, popular fictionist, "whose kindly interest and cooperation" had inspired the quartet "to strive for some measure of success."

The personnel of the quartet is T. Benton Peery, first tenor; Ralph C. Robinson, second tenor; Felix G. Robinson, first bass, and Carl R. Simon, second bass, with J. Herbert Springer at the piano.

Program
The program for the concert follows:

Salutation, Twilight, Lamp in the West, Briar Rose, The Wondrous Song, Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms, quartet; Se Un Bell Ardore, in Italian, and Dedication, Mr. Simon; De Coppah Moon, Swing Along and Sweet Kentucky Babe, quartet; Tango, Seguidilla, Nocturn in F Sharp, and waltz, Mr. Springer; Fireflies, at Father's Door and Fireflies, quartet; Che Gelida Mamma, Goin' to Shout, Mr. Peery; and The Four Winds, Song of the Sea and Invictus, quartet.

HORSE DEAL IS AIRED IN COURT

Milton Loyer, of Heidelberg township, was arrested by Detective H. K. Fickes on an information charging him with larceny by bailee, involving the transaction in a horse deal. The prosecutor is George Baker, of the same township. The information was brought before Alderman Jacob Stager. Loyer furnished bail for a hearing. It is alleged that Baker bought a horse and buggy from Loyer for $25 and it was agreed to make settlement on an installment basis. Recently Loyer is alleged to have "loaned" the horse and buggy from Baker, but he refused to return them.

PRACTICAL JOKE COSTS HIM 'DATE'

Merle D. Spence Admitted to The Times He Was Married
When He Really Wasn't;
Warning Issued.

A man, who, it has since been learned, gave a fictitious name and address, called The Gettysburg Times office on the telephone Saturday evening and gave the editor details of the marriage of Merle D. Spence, of Fairfield.

To confirm the marriage, the Times immediately got in touch with the father of the "bridegroom" who said he did not know whether it was true or not and suggested that this newspaper get in touch with the young man himself at the Gettysburg Panel factory, where he worked.

This suggestion was carried out Monday morning and Spence confirmed the details given the Times about his marriage, even going so far as to supply missing details including the name of the officiating clergyman and the city in which the marriage took place.

Was "Embarrassed"
Accordingly, the story was published in this newspaper Monday evening in good faith. Later in the evening, Spence informed the Times he had been "guyed" considerably by his friends concerning the supposed wedding and when this newspaper phoned him he did not really believe he was talking with a reporter and he merely "carried along the joke." He was embarrassed by the publication, he said, and "was afraid" to call for a young woman Monday evening with whom he had an engagement to attend the Seminary Quartet concert at Brua Chapel.

The "practical joker" who originally gave this newspaper the "details of the wedding" in the first place is known to the editors and prosecution in the courts is held up only because Spence himself unwittingly confirmed the story. Practical joking through the newspaper is not only extremely crude humor; it is a criminal offense. Warning is hereby served by The Gettysburg Times that persons giving false information to this newspaper in the future will be vigorously prosecuted.—The Editor.

Millard B. Simmons, Secretary of Chamber of Commerce, Is Rotary Club Speaker.

What the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce is planning to do for Gettysburg and the rural folk of Adams county was outlined in a program for the coming year by Millard B. Simmons, secretary, at the regular weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club at Hotel Hoffman Monday evening.

"The work of the agriculture committee of the chamber is probably the most important to the community as a whole," Mr. Simmons said. "The development of agricultural interests and a movement to help the farmer of Adams county solve his problems of production and marketing means more to Gettysburg than any other single thing." The agricultural committee is now at work with the Adams county farm agent on a program, Mr. Simmons said. The chamber secretary especially recommended the establishment of a market house in Gettysburg.

With still a number of collectors in Gettysburg and other communities in the county to be heard from, the total receipts from the 1925 Red Cross roll call amount to $479.25, according to Miss Margaret McMillan, secretary of the Adams county Red Cross chapter this morning.

Of the amount reported, approximately $350 was collected in Gettysburg, and after all workers have reported the total amount for the town is expected to be well over the $500 mark.

Many of the county workers are still busily engaged in the work of the roll call, but from those which have been heard from the reports are encouraging, it is stated, leading to the belief that the Red Cross will be provided with ample funds for another year, to continue its splendid work in Adams county.

STRAY BULLET LODGES IN WALL

While Miss Treva Feesser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Feesser, York Springs, was preparing supper at the home of her parents, Thursday evening, a bullet from a high powered rifle crashed through the wall, across the room, and was found embedded above the sink a few inches away from Miss Feesser's head.

Investigation showed that the ball had entered through the pantry window, had gone through the pantry wall, and struck the sink where Miss Feesser was standing. The party who fired the shot could not be found.

LONDONERS SEE KING PROCESSION

(By Associated Press.)
London, Dec. 9.—Londoners today enjoyed one of their most cherished pageants, the procession of the King and Queen from the palace to Westminster and back on the occasion of their state inauguration of the new session of Parliament.

The antique gilded coach in which their Majesties rode, drawn by eight great bay horses covered with brilliant trappings and ridden by bejeweled postillions in royal liveries, attracted large crowds.

Aside from the main procession the Prince of Wales had a little cortege all to himself, driving to Parliament with a military escort and drawing cheers as hearty as those for the sovereign.

HIT BY BOARD; OPERATED UPON

Board Jams With Rip-Saw and Centre Mills Man Is Struck in Stomach When Board
"Kicks."

Struck in the stomach by a board while operating a rip-saw at the home of C. J. Rausher, Centre Mills, Monday morning, Adam Meals, 62, of near Centre Mills, was so seriously injured that he was brought to the Warner hospital during the afternoon and operated upon at 5 o'clock Monday evening.

Although his condition is reported by hospital authorities to be critical, the injured man was said to be resting easier this morning, despite the fact that he spent a rather restless night.

Mr. Meals, a laborer, had been assisting Mr. Rausher to build a chicken house, and had been operating the rip-saw to cut boards into proper sizes for the construction work. He was ripping boards for window frames when one of the timbers caused the saw to jam.

As he released the slab from the teeth of the saw, the board swung around, striking him violently in the stomach. Although the injury did not appear serious at the time, Mr. Rausher immediately took the injured workman home.

During the day, however, when the pain in Mr. Meals' body became more severe, Dr. Jones, of Bendersville, was called and advised the removal of the injured man to the hospital where he was admitted at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon.

An examination disclosed that the board had ruptured Mr. Meals' intestine, and that an operation was all that would save his life. Surgeons at the hospital operated, after which the belief was expressed that the injured man would recover, although it will likely be several days before he is out of danger.

'JACK' CROWE DIES TODAY IN J-H HOSPITAL

Local Young Man, Operated Upon In Baltimore, Fails To Survive Ordeal.

John "Jack" Crowe, local architect, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Crowe, Troxell apartment, Baltimore street, died at the Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, this morning, following an unsuccessful operation there Monday night, according to word received from that institution this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

"Mr. Crowe underwent an operation last night," the Times informant told a reporter for this paper over the long distance telephone late this afternoon. "He failed to rally after the operation and death followed this morning."

The young architect was taken to the Baltimore hospital last Wednesday after suffering from a form of sleeping sickness, induced by a nerve disorder, for several weeks. He was immediately placed under the care of a specialist at that institution.

Operation Necessary
His condition did not improve materially after he was admitted to Johns Hopkins, and it was decided that an operation would probably be the only means of saving the young man's life. His condition became serious Monday morning, and his parents were summoned to his bedside.

His mother, in her haste to make arrangements to go to Baltimore, tripped and fell down a flight of stairs at her home in the Troxell apartments, breaking a bone in her right wrist, which prevented her from accompanying her husband to the bedside of her son.

Mrs. Crowe has been staying at the home of her sister, Mrs. Anna Van Cleave, North Stratton street, since her accident. She spent a restful night, and this morning was much brighter.

Father At Bedside
Mr. Crowe, the young man's father, was at the bedside of his son when death came. He immediately made preparations to have the body brought to Gettysburg for services and interment.

The young man was a graduate of Swarthmore College, near Philadelphia, and was rapidly making a name for himself as an architect.

Iowa was particularly hard hit by the storm, the second within a week. Sioux City advised said public schools were closed for the day because of the deep snow and street cars and train movements were delayed.

The progress of the storm today was forecast to manifest itself in rain along the south Atlantic coast and snow flurries in the upper lake region and upper Ohio valley.

DRIVERS MUST FURNISH DATA

Duplicate Application Forms Requested From State Department in Large Numbers.

Each day the highway department's bureau of motor vehicles receives between 300 and 400 letters requesting duplicate application forms on which to make application for 1925 registration. In a large majority of these cases the bureau receives no other information except the name of the person making the request.

The bureau suggests to persons who have lost or destroyed or did not receive 1925 application forms that in order to insure prompt attention to requests for application blanks it should receive the following information: Name, correctly typed or printed; correct postoffice address; name of motor vehicle; manufacturer's number, and most important, the title number. Forms can be gotten only from Harrisburg.

Although the drivers' licenses of Pennsylvania motorists do not expire until March 1, 1925, a large number of inquiries regarding drivers' licenses are now being received at the state highway department. Application forms for renewal of drivers' licenses for the year beginning next March will be mailed to present holders between January 1 and January 15.

Two questions appear on the form which must be answered or the application will be returned. Particulars are asked on each question. The questions are:

"Have you any mental or physical incapacity or deformity?" "Has your license or right to operate ever been suspended or revoked, in this state or elsewhere?"

The signature of the applicant must be affixed. The fee is $1. Applicants must not send cash and a separate remittance must be attached to each application, covering only that application.

RARE VIOLIN IS FOUND; COST $15

Hagerstown, Md., Dec. 9.—Bought in York, Pennsylvania, several years ago from an aged man for $15, an old violin was discovered by its owner, the Rev. J. H. Ryder, formerly of York and now pastor of the Evangelical church here, to be a rare Stradivarius.

It was the second such violin discovered here in two days. Mr. Ryder made his discovery as a direct result of the finding of the first.

The first discovered belong to U. S. Pryor of this city. Reading in Hagerstown newspapers of the discovery, Mr. Ryder began to investigate his own instrument. There, yellowed with age, but still discernible he read the following description inside of this violin: "Made by Antonius Stradivarius at Cremonensis in 1716," five years before the violin owned by Pryor was manufactured.

The York man who sold the violin to the preacher said that it had been in his family for more than a century, Mr. Ryder said. When he purchased it he did not realize he was purchasing a violin worth about $10,000.

Opening Cage Contest of Season Takes Place in College Gymnasium on Saturday.

Coach Walter D. Reynolds is rapidly whipping his basketballers into shape for the opening clash with Hershey High tilters in the Gettysburg College gymnasium, Saturday evening, at 8:15 o'clock, and there is every indication of a formidable combination when the Maroon and White five step into the arena.

Preceding the varsity game, the second team of the high school will lock horns with the passers of Camp Hill High School, at 7 o'clock.

The squad of forty prospective players for Gettysburg High School teams this year continues to show considerable interest and every day brings about two score tossers into action, making the task of selecting the five best players to represent the high school on the court this season a particularly difficult one for the coach.

Material Plentiful In the line of forwards, Coach Reynolds has plenty of material from which to draw and the two players who will start at those positions on Saturday evening are likely to come from a group of four, headed by Tennant, Moser, McKenrick and Slaybaugh. Tennant and Moser are the only two varsity men left from last year's team.

Buohl and Bender are the best bets for the tip-off position, and one of them is expected to start in the opening contest.

Gardner, Heiges and Bream are showing up well for guard positions and from these Coach Reynolds will select two to start on Saturday.

Hershey is known to have had a strong team last year, but little or nothing is known of the strength of the Chocolate Makers this year because Saturday's game will be the first of the schedule of both teams.

COUNTY BREEDERS
WIN HIGH AWARDS

Adams county Berkshire hog breeders and raisers contributed to the carload of Berkshire barrows which won premier honors by taking first prize in the 200-250-pound class at the International Livestock exposition at Chicago.

Fifteen carloads of barrows of all breeds competed in the class topped by the Keystone porkers. Unfortunately, the Keystone entry lost the grand championship honors to another Berkshire carload of heavier weight. The Keystone carload, however, was sold at the rate of $11 a hundred.

Adams county Berkshire breeders who contributed stock to the winning carload were J. W. Weigle, G. E. Tanager, Harry C. Brinton and A. B. C. Williams.

Other counties represented in the carload were Jefferson, Berks, Lancaster, Mifflin, Cumberland, Chester, Montgomery, Clarion, York, Columbia, Centre, Elk and Lebanon.

CARLISLE MAN
FREED BY JURY

Because he placed a chart in his window on which he listed a number of names under the caption, "Persons who owe me and can pay me, but won't," W. W. Daron, Carlisle grocer, faced criminal libel charges before the Cumberland county court. He was acquitted by the jury.

It is said that a number of names appeared on the list, which was posted last August, but only one man, William Fahnestock, of Carlisle, entered the charge. The prosecutor, it was testified, could neither read nor write. Mrs. Fahnestock, wife of the prosecutor, could and did read it. She testified that she requested the grocer to remove the sign and that he refused.

In the disposition of the costs the jury placed three-fourths of them on the defendant and one-fourth on the prosecutor.

CHAMBERSBURG
WOMAN SUICIDES

Mrs. Reuben B. O'Hara, age 33, Chambersburg, ended her life Friday by hanging at her home. Mrs. O'Hara had been in ill health and this is believed to have caused her to commit suicide. In fact she had previously made an attempt, but on that occasion was unsuccessful. Mr. O'Hara is a salesman and was not at home. When he returned a search of the home revealed her hanging from a rafter in the attic. She had been dead but a short time. Her eleven year old son returned from school about the same time that the father returned home.

Roy D. Lawver

Biglerville, Pa.

Zubin for a moment remained perfectly still. When at last he turned around, his face was ghastly. With his strong arm, he pushed back some one who intervened.

"Who are you?" he demanded.
"I am merely a messenger," Gerald replied. "I know no more than that I was asked to give you that word if I saw you at the casino."

The Russian rose slowly to his feet, left one of the plaques to guard his place, thrust a great pile of notes into his pocket, and led Gerald into a corner.

"You have been spying on me. It is through you that Madame knows I am in Monte Carlo."

"On the contrary," Gerald reminded him, "you yourself wrote a note to her and dispatched it by messenger from Ciro's."

"This note was brought back—"

"The Note Was Brought Back—Madame Was Out," the Man Declared.

Madame was out," the man declared. "It was an accursed accident, that."

"One gathers that you have not been fortunate today," Gerald remarked, after a brief silence.

"That is my own affair," was the grim reply. "What I desire to know is how you became acquainted with these ladies to such an extent that they should appoint you as their messenger."

"I do not recognize your right to ask me questions," Gerald asserted, "but, as a matter of fact, my knowledge of them is of the slightest. Actually, I do not know them at all. I happened to have a few minutes' conversation with Mademoiselle de Poniere, and I mentioned your winnings. You will remember that I saw a letter from you to Madame last night."

Monsieur Zubin sat for a moment deep in thought.

"Are you charged to deliver a reply to this message?" he demanded.

"Certainly not," Gerald answered. "I have not the privilege of visiting at the villa."

"I should think not," the other growled. "I wondered only whether you had been told to take a message to the back door."

"You are a very impertinent fellow," Gerald told him calmly. "You appear to have come from a country where manners have ceased to exist."

The man laughed brutally. "One puts off manners when one deals with spies and meddlers," he declared. "Get on about your business."

He walked back and took his place at the table.

Gerald left the rooms a few minutes later and strolled out into the square. He was in some doubt as to what he ought to do. Pauline had absolutely forbidden him to communicate with her in any shape or form, yet he had a conviction that Zubin's exploits in the casino should be made known to her. He strolled across to the establishment of Madame Lenore. Madame greeted him with a peculiar knowing smile. He drew her on one side.

"Madame," he said, "you make gowns for Mademoiselle de Poniere."

The smile disappeared from Madame's lips. Her face became impassive.

"It is true, my lord," she admitted. "What of it?"

"Just this. You are doubtless in frequent communication with her? I have some slight acquaintance with Mademoiselle but I am not permitted to communicate with her. It is important that she should know that the Russian, Zubin, is gambling in the casino and losing heavily."

"A big man?" Madame asked quickly. "Almost a giant?"

"That is he," Gerald assented. Madame turned toward the telephone.

Gerald turned away.

Madame de Poniere dismissed the servants with a little wave of the hand and looked thoughtfully for a few moments into the fire of pine logs which had been kindled in the grate.

"Pauline," she said, "Zubin is already four days late."

Pauline made no immediate reply. Her aunt pointed to an escritoire which stood in a corner of the room.

"These people," she continued, "become abusive. Even Lenore has sent an account. You dispatched the telegram?"

"I dispatched the telegram," Pauline assented, "but it was needless. Zubin is here."

"Here in Monte Carlo?" Madame de Poniere demanded quickly.

"I have heard so," Pauline replied. "My information is very scanty, but I understand that he had sent you a letter last night."

The pallor of the older woman's face seemed suddenly deepened. Her eyes glittered ominously.

"Jean spoke of a note that had been brought and taken away," she muttered. "Tell me at once what you know, Pauline."

"I have no definite information," Pauline reiterated, "but I understand that he has been seen at the casino."

Madame de Poniere sat like a woman who has received a shock. The shadow of fear was upon her face.

"You do not know Zubin," she groaned. "If he once smells the atmosphere of that place, it is like a deadly drug to him. And he loses! He always loses!"

She leaned over and struck a bell which stood upon a table.

"The car in a quarter of an hour," she ordered. "Pauline, get ready. We must seek Zubin. If he has begun to gamble, he will go on to the end."

They drove first to the casino, where they explored only the Cercle Prive. From there they went to the Sporting Club, where there was still no sign of him. Madame de Poniere became more hopeful.

"He is perhaps resting in his hotel," she said, "preparing to visit us."

"He would never come without sending word beforehand," Pauline reminded her.

They sat side by side on one of the settees, two rather lonely and disheartened women face to face with tragedy. Pauline saw Gerald in the distance and determined upon a bold step.

"Aunt," she said, "there is a young man standing by the easy chair there, whose father lives at the adjoining villa to ours. He has once or twice offered me some small courtesies. He is alone and I am sure he would be glad to be useful. Let me send him to the casino."

"Show him to me," Madame de Poniere demanded.

Pauline pointed him out. Her aunt sighed.

WOMEN AND THE NEWSPAPER

"Women refuse to look upon newspapers as mere commercial enterprises and advertising mediums. They place upon the newspapers a large responsibility, as perhaps the most important agency of 'public welfare and for private information.' The newspaper is unquestionably the biggest continuation school of the nation and does more to mold public opinion and public action than any other institution. Therefore, let the newspaper look well to the course of study it offers the public."—Mrs. Elias R. Michael, member of the St. Louis Board of Education.

CHRISTMAS WEATHER

You can't dampen the spirits of Gettysburgians, buyers and merchants, if the optimistic attitude assumed by local merchants relative to the weather can be taken as a criterion. With the advent of good old "Summer Old Sol" this morning, local merchants smiled contentedly and boasted of "good Christmas business."

The belief was prevalent at one time that, in order to stimulate Christmas buying early, cold, snappy, snowy weather was necessary, prognosticators saying that snow was a

THE STUBBORN LITTLE COMEDIENNE

Wish that I could tell to you
All the clever things she'll do,
Wish I could repeat today
All the funny things she'll say.
And I wish that you could see
Her perform for Bud and me.
But you'll never see her show,
And her art you'll never know.
For when people come to call
Janet won't show off at all.

She'll turn somersaults and face
Madly up and down the place.
Day by day she'll tell us how
Grandma's kitty says "meow!"
What a dog says, and the things

Santa Claus at Christmas brings,
She will sing a little song,
Dance for us the whole day long,
But when strangers are around
Janet will not make a sound.

Vain it is for us to say
All she does from day to day,
None save us will ever know
Why we have about her so.
For when others come she stands
Dumbly looking at her hands,
Hangs her head or runs away
And won't have a word to say.
Stubborn? Yes, for one so small,
Janet won't show off at all!

APPLE PICKERS
BEAT GETTYSBURG

The Apple Pickers' Club, of Arendtsville, opened its season in the community hall, Arendtsville, by trimming the Star Club, of Gettysburg, by the score 18 to 11.

The first half was closely contested and ended with the Apple Pickers one point in the van. Shortly after the beginning of the second period, the Star Club when into the lead, but this advantage was soon overcome by the upper-end shooters, who remained in the lead until the end of the game.

The lineup:

Apple Pickers	Position	Star Club
Rice	forward	Shaeffer
Wierman	forward	Hassler
Van Dyke	center	Arnold
Wert	guard	Bamberger
Allison	guard	Bartner

Field goals: Wierman, 4; Roth, 3; Wert, 2; Schaeffer, 2; Arnold, 2; Fouls: Arnold, 3 of 4; Wierman, 0 of stimulant, yes, almost a necessity.

However with the beaming countenance of Old Sol, merchants today said business was fine, that it was getting better and that early shopping was a surety in Gettysburg. Last minute counter rushes are not being expected and it is a just conclusion to say that, regardless of the weather, Gettysburg's Christmas business is booming and will continue so.

NAME EMANUEL ON ALL-PENN

"Snaps" Emanuel, captain and back of the Gettysburg College Bullet football eleven this year, was selected by Paul E. Miller, of Lebanon, for berth on the All-Pennsylvania football squad, according to an announcement of Mr. Miller's selection yesterday.

Captain Emanuel got away to a bad start this year, because of injuries to his leg, but soon rounded into form and was a tower of strength on defense and a powerful factor in offensive work. He played a steady consistent game for the Bullets and his selection as right half-back on the All-Pennsylvania eleven was received with unanimous approval of sporting critics of the state.

Turks' Pride Brings Trouble To Strangers

Bucharest, Rumania.—Turkish nationalists have gone to extreme measures, according to information current in this city, in their endeavors to bar all foreign languages out of the country. In preparing new passports for the Angora government Turkish officials insist that not a word of any foreign language be used, and print all the documents in Turkish script.

When the bearers of these passports tried to leave Turkish territory, their troubles began. No official could read the Turkish script; they could not tell whether the paper was a legitimate passport or a bill for groceries, and the bearers were refused permission to cross the border.

WIERNMAN'S MILL

Wiernman's Mill.—Mrs. Danher Buehler, of Gettysburg, was the guest of Mrs. Hiliary Kennedy last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Knaub and two children, of Dover, were recent visitors at the home of the former's

You Poor Kid, Why Are You So Skinny?

Don't your mother know that Cod Liver Oil will put pounds of good healthy flesh on your bones in just a few weeks?

Tell her every druggist has it in sugar-coated tablet form now so that you won't have to take the nasty, fishy-tasting oil that is apt to upset the stomach.

Tell her that McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets are chock-full of vitamins and are the greatest flesh producers and health builders she can find.

One sickly, thin kid, aged 9, gained 12 pounds in 7 months.

She must ask Peoples Drug Store or P. W. Stallsmith or any good druggist for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets—60 tablets, 60 cents—as pleasant to take as candy.

"Get McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablet." Adv.

NOSE CLOGGED FROM A COLD OR CATARRH

Apply Cream in Nostrils To Open Up Air Passages.

Ah! What relief! Your clogged nostrils open right up, the air passages of your head are clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, mucous discharge, headache, dryness—no struggling for breath at night, your cold or catarrh is gone.

Don't stay stuffed up! Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Ely's Cream Balm is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer has been seeking. It's just splendid. Adv.

New Easy Way To End NASAL CATARRH

Quick and sure; safe and no trouble—the new way to get rid of loathsome Catarrh in nose and throat.

It may be acute or it may be chronic—of years standing—you may have tried salves and ointments and other treatments.

You're probably disgusted and think you haven't a chance in the world of overcoming it.

Try once more—try this. Get a six ounce bottle of Kojene for 60 cents at Peoples Drug Store or any progressive druggist. Spray the nostrils with it twice a day for three or four days or until every Catarrh germ is destroyed and the nose is clean and clear.

Try once more and get rid of this obnoxious disease. Kojene will do it. If by any mishap it fails your money will be gladly returned.

Kojene is the world's most powerful, non-poisonous antiseptic—seventy-five times as strong as highly flavored antiseptics—yet you can drink it with no ill effects. Adv.

HE COUGHED FOR TWO YEARS SWORE OFF

After coughing for two years almost continuously a man of considerable means got thin and tired and worn out, made his will, and was ready to quit the big game of life.

A friend spoke to him about Broncholine Emulsion and now life to him is very sweet indeed.

That's the kind of a cough that is put out of business with amazing speed when the cougher is wise to Broncholine Emulsion.

Tough old coughs—persistent coughs—coughs that hang on and rob people of their sleep—those are the kind of coughs Broncholine likes to tackle.

Many times such coughs linger after the Grip or a heavy cold, and if you have one or know of anyone who has one keep Broncholine Emulsion in mind.

It isn't just a cheap sweet cough syrup—it's the best cough remedy—and the best is never cheap. Peoples Drug Store and dealers everywhere can supply you. Adv.

Newspapers of South America Censure Spectators For Lack of Good Sportsmanship.

Buenos Aires, — Argentine and Uruguayan newspapers have been severely lecturing spectators at football games for their lack of sportsmanship in the treatment of visiting teams from other countries. Throwing bottles and stones at the opposing players, jeering them, calling them and their country names are not calculated to enhance international friendship, they point out, and some editors in both countries favor the discontinuance of international contests on account of the ill-feeling they arouse.

The discussion was provoked by occurrences at recent games between the Uruguayan Olympic team and the Argentine eleven in Montevideo and Buenos Aires respectively. Stones are reported to have been thrown at the Argentine goal keeper in Montevideo, while in Buenos Aires the visiting Uruguayan fans walked off the field shortly before the end of the game, claiming the ill-treatment received by their players from the Argentine crowd was responsible for their failure to win. The Uruguayan resentment was further aroused when the boat on which they returned to Montevideo was bombarded by bumps of coal when it left the pier.

One devious step at first stepping out frequently leads a person into a wilderness of doubt and error.

GIFT SUGGESTIONS

The Gift Role of Furs

Fathers always just feel hopelessly helpless when it comes to choosing something for mother for Christmas. They usually have to depend on their daughters or sisters-in-law to help them out of their difficulty and invariably they do so by leading them to our Fur Section. It takes a woman to know that to own a lovely Fur Wrap is the secret desire of every woman.

There are many beautiful new Fur Wraps on display now. Every wanted Fur in Coats and Wraps of the latest style. The gift supreme for the woman of your heart.

Both Lucy and Mother Have Neckwear on Their List

Somehow the women in the family always sort of depend on Santa to leave them a pretty lace collar or a little Peter Pan collar and cuff set to brighten some frock that they wish to give a new look. Of course silk hosiery the kind they wear on very special occasions must also be hanging from the Christmas tree and at least one Handbag. It's a funny thing but old Handbags just seem to seize Christmas time as the opportune moment to break under the strain of daily wear.

Boxed neckwear makes a gift that is easy to select and ready to give when you buy it. With collar and cuffs at 50c. or $1.00 it makes it very inexpensive.

Hose in all the latest shades fill our shelves. Wool, silk and wool, and the always popular silks. No one ever has enough. We especially recommend our $2.00 Silver Star number with our name on it.

You Can't Help But Please Her--With Lingerie

You just must see the beautiful new silk underthings in our Lingerie Department. They are enough to excite any feminine mind into ecstasies. Don't forget mother still loves pretty lingerie even though you always think of giving her more sensible things. Laura will love a new nightie or two to take back to college with her too. You can't make a mistake if you buy lingerie for her.

The gowns this year are lovely. Our friend or loved one will be tickled with a gown for her little vacation trips. For $6.00 they are the most lovely ones you ever saw.

The Teddies and Step-ins are real dreams of silky loveliness. Be sure to include one or two in your gift list, and only $3.00, too.
